CHIEF OF POLICE GETS BIRTHDAY

James H. Albertson, chief of police and traffic cop of the city of Sonoma, is celebrating his 78th birthday today. He first saw the light on Jan. 21, 1844, in Hennapin, Illinois.

Called the "curly-haired stage driver" here in early days Jim doffs his Stetson today and shows that Father Time has not snatched him bald despite the years and he says when them speeders go through town it makes his hair curl right up.

The Chief's recipe for looking young is "keep smiling."

GLEN ELLEN NATIVE SONS TO DANCE

The popular Glen Ellen Parlor of Native Sons will give a social dance at the Chauvet on the 28th. The boys are wonderful decorators and genial hosts, the hall always being artistically arranged with evergreens and ferns and a fine time given their guests. The music will be by Perkins' orchestra and a special supper served by mine host McMullen, of the Chauvet.

A JANUARY WATERMELON

While the rest of the state was dwelling in freezing weather Sonoma Valley was producing a ripe watermelon. Chester Studley brought in half of the melon to prove to ye editor that Sonoma's climate is just all right. The watermelon was pink and it was sweet. It was grown and reached maturity on the Studley ranch.

MEET TO RE-ORGANIZE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Meeting Addressed by American City Bureau Man Who Outlined Method of Expansion.

An enthusiastic and interested body of Sonoma Valley boosters were present at the meeting called Thursday night at Union Hall to hear the representative of the American City Bureau outline the method of launching a modern and efficient Chamber of Commerce for which the Valley of the Moon Chamber went on record at its last meeting.

Thursday's gathering was called to order by Vice President King of the Valley of the Moon organization who stated the object of the meeting. As the secretary was not present a motion prevailed that a committee wait on the secretary and either get her to come to the meeting or bring the books of the organization that the minutes might be read. The committee adjourned to request that officer's presence but she refused to come or bring the books on the grounds that the meeting should have been held at the regular meeting place at Boyes Springs. The acting president stated that at the previous regular meeting at Boyes the secretary was requested to call the meeting at Union Hall and that it was entirely regular.

Having reported back to the meeting the attitude of the secretary, the program proceeded sans the minutes, F. M. Kerrick of the American City Bureau being introduced.

The speaker pointed out the new era in Northern California and showed how this part of the state could profit by the example of Los Angeles which had been put on the map by the get together spirit. He outlined the organization plan of the Bureau and declared that if 25 representative citizens of Sonoma Valley will pledge their support and see the plan through the Bureau will send a man here to take charge of the campaign.

It was decided to canvass the Valley and local organizations, to explain the plan and to inaugurate the work.

The sentiment was unanimous for an efficient body with dues sufficient to carry on projects recommended by the professional organizers and engineered by a trained secretary.

William Steinkamp wanted to know the status of the Valley of the Moon Chamber of Commerce and was answered by Messrs. King, Darling and others.

Refreshments served under the skilled direction of P. Meinhardt and vocal numberes by two clever children were features of the boosters' meeting which will be followed up by an active valley-wide campaign for an accredited Chamber of Commerce.

COLDEST WEATHER IN THIRTY YEARS

On Wednesday and Thursday mornings Sonoma valley experienced the coldest weather in 30 years or more, according to old-timeers. The freezing weather was accompanied by a terrific gale. Another giant tree in the Plaza was uprooted and the fountain in front of the City Hall was a beautiful sight with many icicles which lasted far into the sunshine of Thursday afternoon.

The four large class rooms on the main floor will be supplemented with administration rooms, study hall and library.

The second floor is to be devoted to a drawing room, bookkeeping and typing rooms, science department lecture room, two laboratories, ample supply room space and equipped for physics, chemistry, biology and agriculture. The son was born to Mrs. Chelini at El Verano and the baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. E. Castagnasso here in Sonoma. Mrs. Castagnasso was formerly Miss Chelini.

Dr. Hays was in attendance on both cases and says that Mr. Chelini has a right to be proud as both his son and his little grand daughter are two of the finest babies in the Valley of the Moon. Babes and mothers are doing nicely.

WHAT PART WILL FORD PLAY IN THE DRAMA?

IT WAS NOT FAR BACK that many Americans began to wonder if they had any really great men in the country who could lead the world from the path of war and change the times which were truly out of joint as war-wracked peoples struggled through the dread cataclysm from which we are but now emerging. First on the horizon came Woodrow Wilson, who, like a rocket streamed through the sky only to fade away in the shattered possibilities of his League of Nations. Herbert Hoover, whose gilt-edge qualities have been proven by his continued utility in official life, General John J. Pershing, whom war's vortex for America demonstrated to be a great soldier and leader; William Howard Taft, whose opinions on great problems, domestic and international, teem with ever-recurring wisdom and clarity. When the country came to the party crossroads in November, 1920, and each rounded up its best talent, even then there was not apparent great statesmanship or a wide field of big men. As the choice focused on Editors Cox and Harding, there were marked forebodings that the United States, in one of its most crucial eras, was to have pastel leadership, an executive ordinaire, contrary to the popular yearning for a man of the brilliant Rooseveltan type. When we realize how soon the new administration, led by President Warren G. Harding began to shape not only the affairs of the country but the destiny of the world, through the marvelous plans lately revealed at the Disarmament Conference, we must confess we underestimated and miscalculated political geniuses and their capacity—President Harding, whose fine mentality towered above the physique over which we enthused and whose determination brooked no barrier once he had formulated a plan to discourage war; Mr. Hughes, who pointed the way and handled the international phases of the great step forward, launching the peace plan in that epochal speech before illustrious representatives of the great powers. Harding and Hughes, whose brilliant stroke of state all the high-priced talent of the jingo Hearst can not discredit.

Nor is the swift moving present day drama's personnel yet complete. More great figures claim our attention—Henry Ford, a personage of the play whom we did not at first take seriously. Was it Shakespearian-like comedy when he offered to buy all the scrapped warships of the world to break the war gods? It sounded humorous or like bold, colossal advertising. But again we misjudged, for witness the Government and Congress now seriously considering Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals and hearkening to his plan to finance it. His plan includes the elimination of interest-bearing bonds and the ignoring of usurers. Already critics have reared their heads and are arraigning his system. The National Fertilizer Association is out to stop the deal.

Admitting that Ford's idea sounds radical and Russian, yet when we stop to think that Ford has proven himself a master of industry and has the confidence of men like Thomas Edison, it makes us wonder if perhaps in this unique national figure we have not found another great history maker who can lead the democracy into new paths of prosperity and out of economic ruts. Ford avers that the money system of the world is dead wrong and that it begets war. He wants to break the strangle-grip of international money-lenders who control the gold of the world, by financing the $30,000,000 Muscle Shoals project without them and conserve for all time to the people of the United States the great nitrogen plant and power project in Alabama. It is predicted by no less a personage than Ford's friend, Edison, that the new finance plan will fail. He declares that any favorable outbreak of common sense "will be smothered and that Congress hasn't imagination enough to try it."

The Ford plan would not infringe on international finances, but would be strictly a domestic proposition, an experiment watched, of course, by the whole world. It is apparent that all of Henry Ford's interest has not been in tin Lizzies but that interest bearing paper and gold coin of the realm has been a special study with him, also. As a financial figure, Henry Ford has loomed up with other great men of the reconstruction period and it looks as if he was to figure largely in the radical re-adjustments which war's aftermath has forced on America. The average citizen of our great republic is interested but not concerneed over the outcome of the Ford deliberations for there is apparent confidence in the official family at Washington and its ability to determine the fate of the Muscle Shoals project.

A NEW PHRASE has been coined and it's a good one:

A good excuse for many a deed,
On which we couldn't get a bead
Meet
"The Cosmic Urge," the new coined phrase,
Which lifts from man a world of haze,
It's why we like to hit a ball,
It's why for speed we all do fall,
It's why we twist old Lizzie's tail,
And why we climb the aerial trail,
It's why we jazz and why we wed,

TEST RUN OF FIRE ENGINES

The Valley Angel, Sonoma Valley's pride fire engine, made a test run on Friday evening of last week from the fire house at Boyes to El Verano. From the time the call was put in from Mullen's store until the engine arrived was just 4 1-2 minutes, as can be verified by Messrs. Mullen and Baines. Chief Cause changed his shoes, too, before jumping on the engine.

On Saturday at 3:25 p. m., the Chief got a call from Poppe's store, Glen Ellen and in just 11 minutes from the time Mrs. Charles Poppe took the telephone off the hook the fire engine was at her door.

The demonstrations show the service the chemicals are rendering and the protection they afford Sonoma Valley residents. Robert Taylor was the driver for the test run to Glen Ellen and Mr. Hastings was at the wheel in the call to El Verano.

CALIFORNIA AT THE AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has appointed T. C. Tucker, manager of the California Almond Growers Exchange, as a delegate to the Agriculture Conference called for Jan. 23, in Washington at the request of President Harding to consider agricultural problems and remedial measures. Heads of important farmers' organizations, executives of national industries naturally allied with agriculture and leaders in finance of the country make up the conference which, it is expected, will try to reach definite conclusions and recommendatiins as to what should be done to bring the American farmer out of the slough of despond where he is mired under a burden of high prices for everything except his own produce and no market for that.

Tucker left immediately for the East upon receipt of a telegram announcing his appointment to the Conference which is considered signal recognition not only of his leadership in the almond growers' fight for adequate tariff duties but of the growing importance of the almond industry in America. While in Washington, Tucker will visit Senators Johnson and Shortridge to confer on tariff matters which are pending before the Senatt Finance Committee.

CARELESSNESS OF PARENTS INVITES DISASTER

Only by the sheerest good fortune were the lives of four children saved at Healdsburg January 4 when the Northwestern Pacific's Eureka Flyer, traveling at 35 miles an hour, ran into an automobile in which they were riding. Thirteen year old Leland Bailey was at the wheel of the car and with him were his brother Paul, aged 10, and sisters Martha and Vivian, aged 16 and 8 respectively.

At the Grant street crossing where the accident occurred is an automatic wig-wag signal which was in motion signifying the approach of the train when the automobile passed it. This is admitted by the boy who was driving the car and by a pedestrian who was standing at the crossing when the accident occurred. As the train approached this crossing the locomotive engineer saw the machine stop clear of the track, then start ahead and stop immediately in front of the on-rushing train. The thirteen year old driver of the machine and his brother jumped from the car and in fear of the consequences ran away from the scene of the accident leaving their sisters to face the inevitable, alone.

Martha Bailey, the older girl, refused to abandon her sister in this crisis and the two of them were in the machine when the driving shaft of the locomotive struck it throwing it into a ditch at the side of the road. Martha was thrown clear of the wreckage while her little sister, Vivian, was thrown into the ditch and seriously injured when the car fell on top of her.

No one can blame 13 year old Leland Bailey for the injuries his sister received, but who can excuse the parents of these children for their carelessness in permitting them to travel about the country in an automobile unaccompanied by an older person. The state law refuses a license to drive an automobile to anyone less than sixteen years old, but these parents, in the face of prohibition, entrusted his own life and those of his sisters and brothers to a 13 year old lad. What makes the case worse is that the parents knew that the children would pass over this railroad crossing in the course of their journey.

When an adult driving a car tries to beat the train to a crossing he is subject to the severest censure but what can be said of parents who risk the lives of their children in the manner the lives of these children were endangered at Healdsburg?

SONOMA TO EXHIBIT AT THE STATE FAIR

An effort will be made to secure the co-operation of all of the farm centers, commercial organizations and farmers generally by the Sonoma County Board of Trade in obtaining specimens of all of the best of everything grown or produced in the county this year for exhibition purposes.

One of the most important undertakings of the Board this year will be the securing and installing of a suitable exhibit at the State Fair at Sacramento this fall. Without the co-operation of the farmer, however, this will not amount to anything. Hence this appeal to all producers to assist by planting, growing and then selecting the best of everything for the use of the Board.

Readers of the Index-Tribune are requested to communicate with the Secretary of the Board at Santa Rosa if they are willing to assist in the work.

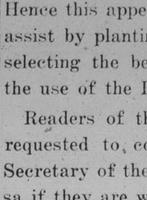

WORK COMMENCED ON EXPERIMENT STATION

Last week ground was broken on the new permanent poultry experimental station to be established by the State of California on the old F street school lot on Sixth street between Seventh and Eighth streets, Petaluma.

Last week the lot was graded and concrete approaches from the street to the site, two in number, were built and will lead to driveways to the station.

Much material is now being hauled to the place, the first loads being hauled on Saturday afternoon and being followed by many more. A large number of the pens and wire netting for more have also been placed on the lot and the actual work of construction of the main buildings commencel.—Petaluma Argus.

EDITORIAL BRINGS GOOD SUGGESTION

Agua Caliente, Jan. 11, 1922.

Editor, Index-Tribune,
Sonoma, Cal.

Dear Sir:—

Your splendid editorial calling for plans for the beautifying of Sonoma Plaza was read with appreciation by the writer, and it is with pleasure that I offer a suggestion for financing that work.

The increased prosperity of our merchants will mean that it will be easier for them to do their part in donating to a park fund, and this prosperity will come when Sonoma Valley people buy more at home than they do in Napa, Santa Rosa and Petaluma.

During the months of June, July and August when our valley is flooded with visitors there should be a series of open air afternoon orchestra concerts with open air vaudeville, home talent pageants depicting the early history of Sonoma, singing societies, etc. in the Plaza itself. The cost of these concerts will not be very much as at the present time Saturday is a holiday at Mare Island and any number of experienced musicians can be brought here at small cost. And further, if the Business Men's Association will get behind this project and approach the resort men of the valley in the right way it will not be hard to get them to agree to engage their musicians to the end that they can double to band and orchestra so that it would not require the importation of only the more rare instruments such as flute, cello, etc.

The working out of this plan would give Sonoma a band with which to greet the convention of the Redmen and the musical foundation of celebrations of various sorts that would lend life to the community and draw home folks and visitors alike to Sonoma on Saturday and by placing specials in the show windows and advtrtising I believe the merchants could get added business sufficient to make them well pleased.

By making a small charge of 10c for reserved seats in front of the orchestra shell and through the sale of lemonade, ice cream, etc. a sum of money coull be raised that could be applied to Plaza improvement and when the people of Sonoma once realize that the Plaza is not only a source of beauty but an active business asset as well, the money to bring it to the same high state of perfection as is the park at Napa, will soon be offered by all.

While I am very busy with the three orchestras I am now managing I will still be glad to meet with any committee that may be elected to perfect this plan and do all in my power to establish a series of free concerts for Sonoma during the season that will with other open air free attractions draw trade to Sonoma and keep it there.

Yours sincerely,
E. G. PERKINS.

AUTO LICENSES NOW PAYABLE

There is a big rush on, on the part of the local auto owners to secure their new auto licenses and plates for 1922, the issuing of which began on Monday morning.

Many are sending direct to Sacramento and others are planning to go or to send to San Francisco for their new plates.

The certificates for 1921 must be sent along, properly signed and if the operator is not the owner the certificates must be signed in two places. The last year certificate will show the amount of coin to be sent. Changes of address since receipt of last license must be noted on certificate.

Operators who have secured their operator's card since February, 1920 do not require a renewal of said card. Those prior to that time do. When the old license certificates are faded so that they cannot be read, the necessary data should be plainly written thereon.

ARE JOINING WITH SONOMA

Rudy Lichtenburg and W. I. Fitzgerald, representing the Valley of the Moon Country and Golf Club, leasees of the famous G. K. Bigelow home ranch in Sonoma Valley, were here Friday interesting Petalumans and securing members and succeeded in lining up quite a number of prominent Petalumans with many more in prospect, owing to the close proximity of this city to the club grounds.

Secretary H. W. Kerrigan of the Chamber of Commerce was the first to sign up on Friday and he is assisting the visitors in securing more. It is thought that fully 20 Petalumans will affiliate with the club, which promnses to be one of the big things of the county.

The club has awarded the contract to John Clark, the famous builder of the Crystal Springs and other golf courses, to construct the new links and will stake out 18 courses, of which nine will be completed immediately for use.

The world famous Scotch golfer who recently visited the site of the course, declared enthusiastically that there is not a finer site in the world for that special purpose.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow will be converted into the club house. It is a spacious and modern country residence, completed but a few years ago at enormous cost and is an ideal structure for club purposes.

With the good roads and the short ride, Petaluma will take kindly to the new club and Petaluma and Sonoma Valley will be drawn all the closer together os their geographical situation should make them neighbors.

Some day a direct road across the mountains will be built and then Sonoma and Petaluma will be but eight miles apart. Part of the road is already there and it would be a simple matter to complete this natural route. In fact, it is being discussed already.—Petaluma Argus.

Among the well known Petalumans to affiliate with Sonoma Valley's new golf club is Mrs. L. B. Hammell, president of the Petaluma Ad Club. In writing to the Index-Tribune, Mrs. Hammell sends congratulations to the Valley of the Moon Country Club and commends Sonoma's enterprise. "Wonderful," declares the wide-awake Ad Club president and she knows.

MAKE "ON THE REDWOOD HIGHWAY" YOUR SLOGAN

The following resolution was passed and adopted by the Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce Jan. 10:

"In view of the fact that the State Highway running from Sausalito to the Oregon line is designated and now known as 'The Redwood Highway,' and it is the only automobile highway in the world which can be so designated and

"Whereas, the advertising value to the cities and counties situated along 'The Redwood Highway' can be greatly enhanced,

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce write its members the business men and official bodies of this city and Sonoma County, and use its good offices to encourage the printing of the slogan, 'On the Redwood Highway' on all stationery, circulars and advertising matter and to pledge its united support in furthering this far reaching and inexpensive method to direct attention not only to 'The Redwood Highway' but to the city of Santa Rosa and to Sonoma County."

Armenian Relief.

Making the American Dollar Do Double Duty in Armenia

Top—Making the Orphanage Furniture. Right—Earning His Bread and Learning a Trade. Left — Spinning the Cloth for Her own Clothes.

GETTING the dollar to do double duty when it is hard enough to persuade it to give one hundred cents worth of work may sound like frenzied finance. But it is the actual accomplishment of American workers of the Near East Relief in the Levant, where living costs are constantly striving for new altitude records.

Due to high prices of native products and the difficulties of importing goods into interior stations, these workers have found it cheaper and an effective aid to child training to manufacture their own supplies in the orphanages scattered throughout the entire region from Syria to the Caucasus, in which the Americans are caring for approximately one hundred and ten thousand children.

Not only has this method been found to furnish superior products, according to workers who have been responsible for these activities, but it prepares the children for occupations that will eventually make them self-supporting, such as printing, carpentering, tailoring, dressmaking and a dozen other trades.

The same plan is said by these workers to have been followed with considerable success in the administering of general relief. Because it was found that the indiscriminate distributions of money and food tended to make permanent beggars of those that received this form of relief, industrial shops have opened where employment is given to those in need. The products of these shops are either sold or used in caring for the orphans and adult refugees.

Though such methods cannot be adopted in relieving such widespread suffering as now exists in Armenia and elsewhere in the Caucasus, where famine conditions and accompanying disease are reported to be causing the death of thousands, they have been found to be practicable in regions where the suffering is not so acute or widespread and have resulted in the saving of a large amount of money, which it has been possible to apply to an extension of necessary relief activities.

J. B. Court, formerly of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, has resigned his position there and moved on his property at Boyes Springs.

Tom Corcoran popular lessee of the famous Agua Caliente Springs is in San Francisco this week looking after business affairs in the bay city.

Another prominent citizen from Boyes Springs Tuesday was Pete Andrew, jockey, golfer, fight bug and all around sport. Pete reports everybody lovely at the Springs.

Joe Ryan of Boyes Springs and Buck Carpenter of Baxterville motored to San Mateo Sunday and were interested spectators at the millionaire's race meet held at that town.

J. B. Mini, proprietor of the Bellevue Hotel, lost his pet rat terrier one day last week. Mr. Mini claims some automobilist captured the valuable canine and is hot on the trail.

Emile Cornelius well known Sonoman, was a passenger for San Francisco Sunday morning. Emile with his white hat, up-to-date overcoat and high neck collar looked like a traveling man representing a neckwear department store.

Our well known Sonoma Valley baker, Albert Dutil, was looking the town over Sunday. Albert called on the writer, bought a good cigar for the boys about town and was pronounced a good fellow by our townsmen.

Solomon Shocken, capitalist, landowner and man about town of Sonoma, was here Monday to visit the writer. Mr. Shocken looks the same as he did 40 years ago. His many friends here were glad to see him looking so well.

Harry Rogers, local buckaroo, had the misfortune to lose a valuable shepard dog one day last week, being run over by an automobile near Sonoma. Harry, to drown his sorrows, was here several days last week imbibing in our one and one-half per cent, which relieved him to some extent.

This is hog killing week in El Verano. Every body is doing it. It is nothing to be disturbed by the squealing of a pig being butchered on these cold, frosty mornings. The writer has been feasting on spare ribs all week. Many thanks for the donations, boys.

The Vallejo Gravel Company have a crew of men at work at the S. P. yards here putting in a belt line to load gravel, also a hoist drag line and a screening plant will be installed in Sonoma Creek near the Maxwell ranch. The company expects soon to be shipping several carloads of gravel a day to different parts of the state from the gravel beds of Sonoma Creek. The Company has made its headquarters here permanently.

Billy Brandon, the little Italian fighter of Verano, is watching the Bulletin to see what Tim McGrath will have to say in his story of notable ring characters about his defeat fo Ah Wing of China. Don't worry, Billy, Tim says as soon as he gets through with the old time champions he will then write about the boys. He will no doubt pay a tribute to the Chinaman's cue, which made him so popular in his battle with our Willie.

It is rumored that Mrs. K. Lombard of San Francisco who recently purchased the Hoffman residence near Oak Grove will soon let out a contract for one of the largest summer resorts and hotels in Sonoma Valley. Mrs. Lombard has already made many improvements on her new property. With this and many other buildings talked of, El Verano will get off to a good start in 1922 and no doubt will be a busy burg this summer.

Mayor Minges of Boyes Springs, accompanied by his son, was in town Tuesday booming up the mass meeting held at Union Hall on Thursday evening to re-organize and expand Sonoma Valley's Chamber of Commerce .The Mayor informed the writer that this new body were out to do big things and expected shortly to light up all Sonoma Valley which is a bright idea. Tht Mayor was informed by your correspondent that he would do all in his power to help the big project and was sure all progressives in El Verano would be out for the re-organization of Sonoma Valley's Chamber of Commerce.

Gary Wright, train master for the S. P. Company, accompanied by D. D. Porter, civil engineer of the Oakland pier and other officials blew into town one day last week from Santa Rosa. The officials seem to be practicing economy as their special car this time was made up of the Santa Rosa section's gasoline car engineered by Section Boss Buttner of that division. If you continue to cut down expenses this way Gary, it won't be long before the Company will be in a position to put back the train service on the Santa Rosa branch. These officials formerly traveled in a special car with a big negro cook looking out for the eats. That a boy, Gary!

On the eve of January 13 our little town was thrown into excitement when Chief Cause of the Boyes Springs Fire Department made a record run from the fire house at the Springs to El Verano in four minutes. The Chief was timing himself on the dare-devil run. At El Verano the fire fighter was met at Mullen's store by our Captain of the El Verano Volunteer Fire Department, Muldowney, who congratulated the Boyes Springs Department on the record time and promised to aid the department at any time with his fire ladders to fight fire throughout Sonoma Valley, advising Chief Cause when he needed any advice in regard to fire department business to call on him. Muldowney was a captain in the San Francisco Fre Department for 30 years and knows the game from A to Z.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The game with Analy was played on Friday, Jan. 13, which means bad luck and it certainly was bad luck—for Analy.

The teams in these games were evenly matched in size and playing. The 130 pound team at first looked as if they were not going to win. The game they put up in the first quarter was not very good but they picked up splendidly and in the second quarter they played a fine game. At one time during the game we thought our star player was out of it, as Don Prestwood hit the floor and stayed there. But it isn't like Don to stay down so up he jumped and made a basket just about three minutes after his fall.

One reason why the Analy boys did not win was because they were watching Gene Robin instead of the ball—watching when they could because most of the time he was flying around so fast you couldn't see him.

The 130 pound team is traveling the road for the championship and so far there has been no punctures and it has been highway all the way. Their score was 31 to 19.

Friday was also a lucky day for the unlimited team also. We had Jimmy Bigelow on it again so of course we won the game. That certainly was the best game played yet. The men, unlike Petaluma, were about the size of our men and they all put up a good game.

We kept the lead and the score at the end of the game was 26 to 17.

At the end of the first quarter the score was 10 to 0 in Sonoma's favor. But in the second quarter they made some baskets and so saved their faces.

There was a large crowd present at the game but we hope for a larger one next time.

There were over 300 spectators at the Analy game. The teams play Healdsburg High School next Friday evening. Judging by the increased interest which comes with victory, Union Hall should be packed to the limit on Friday night.

The cooking class is managing a cafeteria quite successfully. A committee takes charge each week, prepares its own menu, orders its own supplies and fixes its own prices. The proceeds, however, are turned into the Student Body Treasury.

The economics class is now studying American-Japanese relations. They can pronounce Japanese names and geographical places as fluently as the average American talks French. They are improving, however.

After many unavoidable delays, the plans for the new high school building are practically finished. A description of the structure appears in another column of this paper.

The annual Sophomore party takes place in the Woman's Club House on Saturday, Jan. 21.

The Sonoma County Board of Trade has offered a cash prize of $5 for the best slogan to be used in advertising of the county. BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MIKE KISER

A birthday party was given to Mike Kiser last week in honor of his sixteenth birthday, at the C. J. Kiser home. The evening was a jolly one spent in dancing and playing games. At midnight a delicious chicken supper was partaken of and it was a late hour before the merry makers left for their homes. The following were present:

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kiser, R. Dashwander, Louis Imboden, Wm. Cox, Mary Kiser, Matilda Jacober, Conrad Jacober, Conrad Kiser, Jr., Mike Kiser, Pete Kiser and Karl Jacober.

SANTA ROSA GOLF CLUB THROWS OPEN NEW HOME

Their handsome club home having opened with the merriest of fetes, the Santa Rosa Golf and Country Club's house warming passes into social history as one of the most elaborate affairs ever held in Sonoma County. With the beautiful club house and its harmonious furnishings for a setting the elegance and gaiety of the gowns the charm of the music and the delight of the dance, the character of the supper which closed the evening—all these combined to make of the ball something of remarkable beauty and memorable joy.

In its commanding situation on the hillside the club house appeared in the lovely white moonlight of the clear January night a huge ship gaily illuminated for festival, its basement windows the port holes in semblance, a beautiful picture indeed to the approaching guests, who numbered almost two hundred.

Within the beauty of the club home was enhanced by brilliantly glowing fires and by clusters of bright berries in baskets and bowls. In fact, fires glowed both within and without the building, for before the large fireplace on the terrace within the court punch was served in the interims between dances.—Press Democrat.

POULTRY AND EGG SHIPMENTS SHOW INCREASE

The poultry and egg record as maintained by Editor Frank H. Snow of the Petaluma Poultry Journal and which is positively accurate and authentic and regarded as official, show a wonderful increase in production of poultry and eggs in the year just closed and the figures show the wonderful magnitude attained by the leading industry of this section.

His figures show an increase in shipments of 3,000,000 dozen eggs and an increase of over 100 per cent in poultry shipments in 1921 over the year 1920 and said figures are the best argument to show that the Petaluma poultry district is by great odds the leading poultry center of the West.

A CRITIC ANSWERED

I beg leave to make some statements in regard to the Chamber of Commerce to confute some misleading paragraphs that have been published heretofore:

The Valley of the Moon Chamber of Commerce is not and has not been functioning properly for some time past.

Average attendance has been less than one dozen.

Executive officers have neglected duties.

The statement is false that I have sought to disorganize the Chamber of Commerce. On the contrary, I have sought to solidify it by putting it on the right basis because sentiment of the members demanded it.

The American City Bureau is interested in Chamber of Commerce work, its business is to re-organize and make useful bodies of inefficient ones. We should avail ourselves of this opportunity as Sonoma Valley is worthy of the best and people who are willing to pay dues and contribute to promotion work are entitled to an organization worth while, and up to standard.

If the intimation of unpaid dues refers to me, I have my receipt to disprove this assertion.

As to incurring bills without authority, that, too, is false, so far as I am concerned. Bills, however, paid without the proper signature or a corporation without a treasurer is neither just to the people or legal.

The statement that I have been working continuously to get a paid secretary, one that is thoroughly competent and with executive ability is perfectly true and I will continue to work toward that end.

In regard to the "accomplishments of this Chamber of Commerce, anything that was consummated had its beginning before the present regime and was due to the individual interest and activity of a few good boosters.

The Board of Directors must at all times sanction and transact business of the organization and any plans for future building or the acquiring or accepting of a lot is for the Board to endorse.

The word "co-operation" is sure all right and as the slogan goes "If you don't believe in co-operation watch what happens to a wagon when one wheel comes off." I leave it to the people to judge why our wagon has not gone along better.

The people of Sonoma Valley would like to know who it was from the beginning that sought to prevent the organization, and who at all times was a discordant element and who made the statement that Sonoma people did not know anything and would not get behind promotion work or a betterment program; who declared in favor of Petaluma's county division scheme and wanted to limit activities of the Chamber of Commerce to Boyes Springs? This is not the spirit the people want in the organization.

Boyes Springs does not want a dead organization but wants to co-operate with the enetire valley for a first class and accredited body.

Signed:

GEORGE DARLING,
Director, V. of M. C. C.
